I. National and Sectoral Gender Equality Goals

What are National or Sectoral Gender Equality Goals?

Objectives a government has for achieving gender equality

- Recall: Gender equality is cross cutting and therefore requires a whole of government approach.

Often categorized by theme

- Recall: Although common themes, each country is unique in the type and severity of its gender inequalities.

National Gender Equality Goals - Example

Gender Equality Goals	Economic Empowerment Equal and full participation in the economy for women.		Voice and Agency Gender equality in leadership and decision-making roles; ending gender-based violence; and improving access to justice		Human Endowment Equal opportunities in education and skills development; improved health outcomes and access to services
	Economic Opportunities	Ownership and Control over Financial and Non-Financial Assets	Representation in Leadership and Decision-making	Ending Gender-based Violence and Harassment	Education and Skills Development	Health and Wellbeing
Key Indicators	○ Unpaid care work by gender ○ Labor Force Participation Rates by Gender and Sector ○ Unemployment rate by gender ○ Occupation by gender ○ Income by gender (median hourly wage)	○ Entrepreneurship by gender ○ Business ownership and size by gender ○ Ownership over productive resources/assets by gender (land, property, internet) ○ Formal vs informal access to financial services by gender ○ Access to capital or credit by gender	○ Political representation by gender ○ Senior level management by gender (public sector) ○ Senior level management by gender (private sector)	○ Prevalence of GBV ○ Access to support for survivors of domestic violence ○ Prevalence of sexual harassment in the workplace	○ Primary, elementary, and secondary school enrollment by gender ○ Dropout rate by gender ○ Subject choice at secondary and tertiary school by gender ○ Participation in vocational training by gender ○ Stereotypes around girls in STEM	○ Access to reproductive health care ○ Adolescence birth rates ○ Maternal mortality rates ○ Access to contraceptives ○ HIV rates by gender ○ Suicide rates by gender

Let's Discuss...

- National Development Plan?
- Gender Equality Policy/Strategy?
- Sectoral Medium-term Development Plans?
- Standalone framework?

- Are gender inequalities prioritized in budget guidance/circular and training? Templates?
- Are these used as a basis for budget negotiations and decision making?

Country Example: Canada

 Education and Skills Development	 Economic Participation and Prosperity	 Leadership and Democratic Participation	 Gender-Based Violence and Access to Justice	 Poverty Reduction, Health and Well-Being	 Gender Equality Around the World
Goal Equal opportunities and diversified paths in education and skills development	Goal Equal and full participation in the economy	Goal Gender equality in leadership roles and at all levels of decision-making	Goal Eliminating gender-based violence and harassment, and promoting security of the person and access to justice	Goal Reduced poverty and improved health outcomes	Goal Promoting gender equality to build a more peaceful, inclusive, rules-based and prosperous world

- Developed by Ministry of Finance, Ministry for Gender Equality and Bureau of Statistics
- Used to measure progress towards gender equality and organize budget actions for prioritization and decision making

How are gender equality goals integrated into the budget planning and prioritization process?

Policy and plans are a good starting point

Principle 1 is about prioritizing gender equality in budget planning and prioritization

To do this:

- Goals need to be accessible and easily understood across government
- Progress towards goals needs to be measured
- Inclusion of goals in the budget circular/guidance (e.g., Rwanda) and fiscal framework can help ensure they are prioritized

II. Integrating Gender Budgeting into existing Budget Call Circulars/Guidance

Features of a BCC vs. Gender-responsive BCC

	General content of a Budget Circular	A Gender Responsive Budget Circular (in addition to the general content)
Strategic information	❖ Set strategic direction of the budget (government policy priorities) ❖ Sets expenditure and revenue priorities (macroeconomic assumptions, ceilings) ❖ Timelines for the budget preparation process	❖ Sets out gender equality goals and priorities ❖ States the government's commitment to Gender Budgeting
Administrative Information	❖ States format for budget submissions (e.g., templates, narratives) ❖ Guidance and user instructions	❖ Includes guidance and templates for MDAs for gender budgeting (e.g., guidance on how to undertake gender impact analysis, templates for submitting marked measures, etc.)

Steps for Incorporating Gender into Existing Budget Circulars

1. Make Gender Considerations a Requirement

- Communicate a formalized requirement for gender considerations in budget submissions.
 - Create an incentive for agencies to budget in a gender-responsive way.
 - Explicitly state that gender must be reflected in submissions and will be considered an important criterion during budget negotiations and decisions.

2. Be Specific on Scope: Who? How?

- Who needs to consider gender equality?
 - All budget submissions? Submissions from specific ministries?
- How should gender considerations be specified?
 - The more clearly a call circular's instructions are, the more likely it is that agencies will consider the issue carefully and specify in a clear way what they intend to do.
 - Include templates with clear guidance: These documents specify in more detail how gender can be incorporated.

3. Link to Government Gender Equality Objectives

- Highlight government gender equality priorities, policies, and/or objectives in the budget circular.

Example 1 - Gender Responsive Budget Circular

Example 1: “Improving gender equality is important to this government. Agencies should consider gender in their submissions.”

1. Make Gender Considerations a Requirement

2. Be Specific: Who and How

3. Link to Government Gender Equality Objectives

Example 2 - Gender Responsive Budget Circular

Example 2: “A key priority of this government is improving gender equality. The Ministry of Labor, Ministry of Social Policy, and the Ministry of Health must disaggregate output indicators by gender for all budget submissions.”

1. Make Gender Considerations a Requirement

2. Be Specific: Who and How

3. Link to Government Gender Equality Objectives

Example 3 - Gender Responsive Budget Circular

Example 3: “Gender equality is vital for the social and economic development of our nation. Every agency’s proposed policies and programs must be analysed from a gender perspective in order to be considered in this budget. To do this, a gender impact assessment needs to be conducted on all policies and proposals (Template and Guidance in Annex A). Finally, each agency must summarize the gender impact assessment for each program or policy into their budget submission summary table. Where possible, this table should include disaggregated indicators for measuring expected impacts and link the policy or program with one of the gender equality objectives under the National Gender Framework (See Annex B for a list of objectives). An outline template for the summary table is provided here. ”

Budget Submission Summary Template: Program/Policy X

Sub-Program or Policy Title and Number	Short Description	Summary of Gender Impact Assessment (qualitative description or scorecard system)	Indicator(s) (disaggregated by gender where possible)	Outcome: Which objective under the National Gender Framework is expected to be advanced?	Requested amount over X years

Country Example

Rwanda's Gender Responsive Budget Circular

Rwanda's Budget Circular:

- Makes gender considerations a requirement
- Explicitly states that these gender budget statements will be considered when evaluating budget submissions
- Includes clear instructions and the format to be used by ministries

Instructions for the preparation and reporting of a Gender Budget Statement

1. Introduction

To accompany the budget submissions for the 2019/2020 Fiscal Year, all Ministries and Districts are required to prepare and submit a well prepared Gender Budget Statement (GBS) that demonstrates how the budget intends to respond to the specific needs of Women, Men Girls and Boys. Whilst a Gender Budget Statement will be required only for high level institutions (Ministries and Districts), it is important to note that, each Ministry is required to work closely with its affiliated agencies and develop a consolidated GBS which will be submitted as one document. In addition, the GBS will also include information on Gender Distribution of Employment (GDE) that indicates how Men and Women are being represented at various levels of employment within the institution.

The GBS and GDE will form part of the criteria on which budget submission will be evaluated for each Ministry and District and will be submitted to Cabinet and Parliament as an Annex to the Budget Frame Work Paper (BFP) which will further be a basis for monitoring the implementation of Government gender commitments as well as their impact in bringing about change in communities.

Institution: Ministry/District

Program: Name of a Programme
Subprogram: Name of the Sub-Programme
Gender Situational Analysis	Output	Activity	Indicator	Allocated Budget

Gender Situational Analysis should describe what problems in the community/population that requires the budget agency to undertake the interventions in the selected subprogram. The description should at least show three key elements:

- What is the problem?
- What is the root causes of the problem;
- Sex disaggregated data to clearly show the extent of the problem

Now, identify or define outputs to be achieved to address the gender issues identified in the situational analysis. These should be taken directly from the MTEF structure but may be amended to ensure gender sensitivity. It is vital that there is consistency between the outputs in the MTEF and in the Gender Budget Statement. The outputs should be related to the annual activities to be undertaken rather than over-arching objectives. They should not rely on assumptions relating to developments and/or activities which are outside the control of the ministry and agencies.

Activities should then be identified which will be carried out by the ministry and its agencies to achieve the output identified. There may be more than one activity for each output. Again the activities should be taken from the MTEF structure but may be amended.

III. Key Takeaways

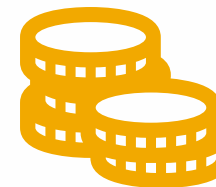

Conclusion – Key Takeaways

The ultimate objective of gender budgeting is to advance gender equality.

Clearly defined gender equality goals are the basis for measuring progress and prioritizing greatest gender equality challenges in the budget process.

Where can you find your country's gender equality goals?
How are they included in budget prioritization and planning?

Thank you!
